

DESPONDENT WOMAN TAKES CARBOLIC ACID

Was in Ill Health and Thought to Have Had Domestic Trouble

Sister Finds Her Unconscious in Rocking Chair After Victim Telephones That She is Ill.

Mary E. Carlyle, aged 28, the wife of Herbert Carlyle, a B. & O. flagman, suicided at her home, 175 South Fourth street, Friday evening by swallowing a quantity of carbolic acid. Ill health and domestic trouble, so it is hinted, were assigned as the causes of the act. A letter addressed to Mrs. John Herald, a sister residing at 200 Wilson street, is believed to contain the solution of the mystery, but the sister of the dead woman has not made public the contents of the note.

Mr. Carlyle has been at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Carlyle, Union station, since Sunday. A message sent Friday night brought the husband home Saturday forenoon. He made no statement as to the possible cause of his wife's rash deed.

Relatives of the dead woman state that she was apparently in the best of spirits immediately preceding her suicide. She took dinner at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson, 200 Wilson street, and showed no signs of despondency or illness. In the afternoon she returned to her home and after supper about 7 o'clock, stepped to the home of John Mitchell, a neighbor, and phoned to her sister, Mrs. Harold, who also lives at 200 Wilson street. She informed her that she was not feeling well and for her to come at once.

Mrs. Harold, accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. George Anderson, of Columbus, went directly to the South Fourth street home, and upon entering the house realized what had happened when the fumes of acid poured throughout the house. Entering a sitting room, the two found Mrs. Carlyle sitting in a rocking chair, unconscious. Beside her, on the floor, lay an empty tumbler which told the tale.

Dr. H. B. Anderson was hastily called and labored for over an hour in a vain attempt to save the life of the woman. She died at about 8:30 without regaining consciousness.

Mrs. Carlyle leaves her parents, her husband, two brothers, George, of Columbus, and Fred, of this city; also five sisters, Mrs. John Herald, 200 Wilson street; Mrs. Fred Fuller, Hudson avenue; Miss Gertrude Anderson, 200 Wilson street, and Misses Merle and Lucy Anderson, of this city.

Mrs. Carlyle was born in Columbus and spent her childhood at Union station. Five years ago last July she was married to Mr. Carlyle and they have lived in this city for most of that time. The deceased was a member of the Licking Baptist church.

A sister, Mrs. Fuller of Hudson avenue, is lying dangerously ill at her home and has not been told of the tragedy.

WARNED

Not To Bombard Ports Where American Citizens Reside—Government Will Not Send Ships.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The Haitian government has ordered the immediate bombardment of St. Marie to terrorize the insurgents, who have already seized Gonaives and have made considerable progress.

The United States minister to Haiti, Mr. Furness, cabled the State Department that he had notified the Haitian government that there must be no bombardment of ports containing American citizens without the customary notice.

The State Department did not think it necessary to ask that a ship be sent to St. Marie. The Eagle, in charge of Lieutenant Commander Mervell, has been sent to St. Marie recently, and can be communicated with on short notice at Guantanamo.

BIG GAS WELL

Brought in on the Everett Farm by the Heisey People—Good for 5,000,000 Feet.

Granville, O., Jan. 18.—What is considered the greatest gas well ever drilled in this territory came in Friday night on the Bert Everett farm, about one mile west of this place. The well was drilled by the Heisey people after many weeks of weary toil and overcoming many difficulties, such as salt water, etc. It is estimated that the well is good for five million cubic feet of gas per day. There are quite a number of other good wells in the immediate vicinity. It looks as though the Granville territory would prove the most productive of any of the Licking gas fields.

RELATIVES AND FRIENDS OF COUNT SZECHENYI, WHO IS TO MARRY GLADYS VANDERBILT

New York, Jan. 18.—Relatives and friends of Count Laszlo Szechenyi have arrived to attend the wedding of Miss Gladys Vanderbilt to the nobleman on January 27.

Whether they had been forewarned of the nature of the reception that awaited them could not be learned, but they yielded to the importunities of photographers and individually and collectively posed before cameras no fewer than 37 times, submitted to all sorts of questions, pertinent and impertinent; tried to appear politely unconscious at the pier for half an hour, while a staring crowd circled around them, and at the end emerged smiling and cheerful.

JUSTICE DOWLING

MAY NOT ORDER A STAR CHAMBER INVESTIGATION IN THE THAW TRIAL.

Evelyn Thaw Will Resume Testimony Monday—Thought Case Will End Week After Next.

New York, Jan. 18.—Attorney Littleton today changed his plans in the Thaw case and, as a result, Mrs. Evelyn Thaw will not resume the witness stand on Monday. She will be withdrawn in order that Mrs. Belle Morehouse Lawrence, Thaw's first governess, can testify.

New York, Jan. 18.—Even though counsel for both sides state that the testimony of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw should be heard in private, it is not certain today that Justice Dowling will issue an order Monday. He has carefully examined decisions called to his attention by District Attorney Jerome, but has as yet to be convinced that anything will be served by a star chamber investigation. Had the district attorney tried to keep the story of the younger Mrs. Thaw from the public at the original trial, he would now get every encouragement from Justice Dowling. But Justice Dowling will not indicate until Monday what action he will take. From the bench he has stated he did not think the application came in time, and has also cited to the attorneys sections five and eight of the criminal code for examination as to whether or not the validity of a trial might not be questioned should the public and all reporters be excluded from the court room. It is generally believed, therefore, that when the trial is resumed Monday, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw will resume the recitation of her life in open court. The general impression now is that the case will go to the jury some time week after next.

According to her husband's story, he saw a hawk and called to his wife to bring the shotgun. She stumbled, he said, and the gun was discharged, blowing off the top of her head. Since her death Porter's story has been doubted.

WANTS ALL THE STATES TO STUDY THE RACE PROBLEM

Resolution Introduced in Mississippi Legislature Which Asks for United Co-operation.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 18.—One of the features of Friday's legislative session was the introduction of a concurrent resolution of Mr. Dess of Jackson, inviting all the states in the Union to appoint legislative committees of fair-minded men to visit the South and thoroughly study the race problem.

The resolution declares that the solid South is going to remain solid "so long as we are kept solid by the danger of again being swept into the political, financial and moral hell of negro domination," and that if the danger of race domination were forever "removed from our people, a respectable Republican party could be built up in our state, and this is an end much desired by all citizens."

CALLS BIGELOW HUMBUNG.

Xenia, Jan. 18.—Before the Clinton Farmers' institute yesterday, Alton O. Myers declared that Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland, is paying Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow $5000 a year to travel over the state in the interest of the initiative and referendum measure, and that Tom L. knows where "his was coming from."

Myers' subject was "Bugs, Humbugs and Some Other Insects," and he classed Bigelow under the head of humbugs.

BANISTER SLIDE COST A LIFE

Mt. Vernon, O., Jan. 18.—Edward Colgin, aged 21, while attempting to show some young ladies at a dance this morning, how he could slide down the banister leading to the dance hall, slipped and fell to the bottom, crushing in his head like an egg shell. He died in the ambulance en route to the hospital.

Anise seed comes from Asia Minor and is principally used in the manufacture of liquors.

CHICAGO SUFFERS BIG FIRE LOSS

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Losses which will amount to nearly $1,000,000 were sustained early this morning in a fire which destroyed the six story building of McNeil & Higgins Grocery company, on Market street. Heavy damages were also sustained by Reid, Murdock & Co., Banner Supply Co., Union Stoneware Co., and Manship & Boltz Envelope Co., which occupied adjoining structures on three sides of the burned building.

FLIRTING

TAFT AND FORAKER EXCHANGE PLEASANTRIES AND PASS BOUQUETS.

Secretary is Disturbed Over Situation and Advances May Be Made to Senior Ohio Senator.

Washington, Jan. 18.—That Taft and Foraker have been flirting again is evident from the developments of the past week. Foraker is out in a long authorized interview today, in which he comments on remarks made by Taft at a dinner given the latter by the Ohio Congressional delegation last Monday night. Taft took occasion to say some nice things about the Ohio Senator. The Senator in his interview says he is not surprised that Taft thinks kindly of him, as they have been friends for many years. He then proceeds to chide Taft in a sorrowful fatherly sort of a way, for permitting his managers to stir up such a political mess in Ohio. For the first time he admits that efforts had been made by Senator Crane and other friends of both men to bring about an understanding which had proved futile. The Senator further makes it clear that he will receive sympathetically any advances to be made in the future from the other side looking to a settlement of the squabble, and tells why it is not possible for him to take the first step.

Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati is here consulting with his brother and the President. Although none of the Taft folks will admit that an agreement is in sight, it is known that the secretary and his friends are considerably disturbed over the situation in Ohio. A divided delegation from his own state would not only hurt Taft in the National convention, but it might result in causing Ohio to go Democratic in the election should Taft be nominated.

JOHN R. WALSH FOUND GUILTY TODAY OF BANK WRECKING

Chicago, Jan. 18.—John R. Walsh today was found guilty of wrecking the Chicago National Bank. The federal jury that has spent two months hearing masses of testimony consumed thirty hours in agreeing on the verdict. The verdict was based on 54 of 150 counts on which he was tried. On the other 96 counts, he was found not guilty.

The closing of the doors of the Chicago National Bank, Equitable Trust Company, and Home Savings Bank in 1905, was one of the financial upheavals of the age. Walsh was a master builder of millions, but by today verdict he is convicted of putting into his structure at least $7,000,000 of money entrusted to him by other people. Walsh's attorneys took immediate steps to get a new trial, leaving the motion.

Walsh summed up the position of his side with "the fight has only begun." He intends to carry the case to the supreme court of the United States if necessary. It is possible, under the verdict to send Walsh to prison for five years under each of fifty-four counts on which he is found guilty. Sentence, however, may be made concurrent.

BURIAL

Of Boyertown Victims Must Be Made Before Tonight—Twenty Identified Dead.

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 18.—Despite pleas of persons who lost relatives yet unaccounted for in the disaster of Monday night for more time for identification, Coroner Strauser today remained firm in his edict that all un-identified must be buried before tonight. There are still 20 bodies at the morgues unclaimed and it is probable that all will be consigned to one huge trench in Fairview cemetery this afternoon. At the rate of five an hour funerals of the other victims were conducted today.

FLEET

Officers Were Mystified by Rumor of Mishap

SHIPS IN FINE CONDITION

Torpedo Boat Flotilla Has Arrived From Pernambuco

Men Being Feted and Everybody Having Good Time at Brazilian Port.

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 18.—The American battleship fleet has been joined in the harbor at Rio Janeiro by the torpedo boat flotilla. The flotilla left Pernambuco January 13, and met with good weather on the voyage to this port.

Lieutenant Commander Cone reports the health of the men of the torpedo flotilla as generally good. The vessels in his command will sail for Buenos Ayres after coaling, probably about January 21.

The scene in the harbor was picturesque. Never before were so many warships anchored in this port at one time. Besides the great fleet of 16 battleships swinging idly at anchor, with their white sides shining in the brilliant sunshine of a perfect day, there was the fleet of Brazilian warships, the German cruiser Bremen, and finally came the six American torpedo-boat destroyers, under Lieutenant Commander Cone, to swell the great fleet.

Scores of small boats ran to and fro between the warships and the shore, carrying thousands of the men who had been granted leave for the day, while the officers were still being feted by the government, the city and the people of Rio Janeiro.

There was considerable surprise and not a little amusement among the officers of the battleship fleet, as well as among the people of Rio Janeiro, over numerous inquiries cabled here from the United States during the day asking for information regarding a reported disaster to the battleship Connecticut, Admiral Evans' flagship.

At first the inquiries were mystifying to those to whom they were addressed, as the rumor of a mishap to the Connecticut did not originate here, and at the time frenzied inquiries were being telegraphed from the United States all the ships of the fleet were lying peacefully in the harbor in plain view from the shore.

Finally it became clear that the rumor of an accident originated in the United States, and, having been widely circulated, occasioned considerable alarm there.

WARDEN GOULD REGAINS CONTROL

Columbus, Jan. 18.—The reclamation of Jackson county by Warren J. Gould was the chief feature of the Taft-Foraker fight Saturday. A meeting of the committee was held Saturday to return Gould to his former position of power. Taft headquarters Saturday admitted that Gould had recaptured the committee. It is planned to rescind the endorsement of Taft and probably refuse to abide by the state committee's call for the primaries.

GLYCERINE BLOWS UP.

Postoria, Jan. 18.—The storage magazine of the Independent Glycerine company, a mile and a half southwest of Bradner, blew up yesterday afternoon, blowing the team and wagon of an oil well shooter to atoms. The shooter had gone to the place to get glycerine to shoot a well, but on opening the door to enter saw evidence of fire and fled.

AGED COUPLE BURNED.

Marion, Jan. 18.—While dressing by an open grate yesterday morning, Mrs. Benjamin Bickle, aged 66, of Agosta, was so badly burned by her clothes catching on fire that she cannot live. Her husband, who went to the rescue, had his flowing beard and hair burned off and his face and hands painfully burned.

Of the world's land 14,000,000 acres are in steppes.

GETTING THIRD SET OF TEETH.

Gallion, Jan. 18.—Mrs. George Schaal, aged 80, who resides south of this city, is cutting her third set of teeth. She is in excellent health.

SOCIETY

A delightful surprise postal shower was given Mrs. Border of West Locust street by her Sunday school class and a few of her friends on Wednesday afternoon. The lunch was bountiful and was enjoyed by the following ladies: Mrs. Dr. Alexander, Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. Julian, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Foy, Mrs. Abbott, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Frye, Mrs. Cheetle, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Keller, Mrs. Marple, Mrs. Bolder, Mrs. Carmack, Miss Julian, Miss Gladys Mock. Mrs. Border is substitute teacher for Mrs. C. F. King during her absence in the south.

Mrs. W. T. Moore was hostess to the Monday Bridge club at her West Locust street home on club day of this week. At the close of an interesting game the souvenir was awarded Mrs. A. R. Clayton. The substitute guests were Misses Cassie Hillier, Jessie King and Lillian Miller.

Miss Margaret Jones very pleasantly entertained the Thursday Evening Euchre club on the club night of this week at her home on Buckingham street. The club game was spiritedly contested and the trophies were awarded Miss Anna Hoffner and Miss Ethel Franklin. A dainty luncheon was served during the evening. The following were substitute guests: Misses Emma Kammerer, Helen Watkins and Agnes Clark.

The Ninety-Nine club of Hanover met at the home of Mrs. Nellie Foy, on Thursday. A fine program was given. Quotations from Jean Jacques was given with roll call. The Basile was given by Mrs. Mayme Arndt. The club is studying the history of France. Mrs. Martha Wood gave a paper from the year 1610 to the year 1715. Music by Mrs. Mae Stasel. The Renaissance, by Mrs. Emily Montgomery was very good. Miss Mary Wilhelm recited the life of Marie Antoinette, which was very interesting, after which a social hour and refreshments were served.

The Sesame Sewing club held the first meeting on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ralph Brown on West Main street. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. Brown.
Vice president—Mrs. Kieger.
Secretary—Mrs. Keller.
Treasurer—Mrs. Whitehead.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent in sewing and a dainty luncheon was served. Mrs. Walter Kinney and Miss Helen Kinney very enjoyably entertained the ladies with vocal and instrumental solos. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Whitehead on Leroy street.

Miss Alice McMahon will entertain the Photozetean club this afternoon at her home on North Fourth street.

One of the most enjoyable affairs of the season was had on Tuesday night of this week, when Hafer's gave one of their popular Leap Year dances in their hall on the south side of the square, which was attended by about 200 of their friends. The ladies were kind enough to take advantage of the leap year privileges accorded them to the full extent. Dancing was indulged in until 12 p. m. when all repaired to their homes, requesting a repetition of the same at as early a date as possible.

One of the pleasant social events of the week was the Leap Year dance given by the Oecuba club Wednesday evening at Sham's Hall East Main street. The hall was completely filled with a jolly crowd of young people, and the spirit of a leap year dance was taken up and enjoyed by all. The dance was continued until a late hour and they reluctantly departed for their homes, but all looked with pleasant anticipation to the dance next Wednesday evening, which celebrates the first anniversary of the club.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Investigators' club was held on Monday afternoon, with Mrs. Ball as hostess at the home of Mrs. Henry Metz. The following program was both entertaining and instructive:

Spurgeon.
"So many Gods—so many Creeds—
So many Ways—that wind and wind—
While just the art of being kind,
Is all the sad world needs."
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Piano solo—Debutante Waltz, Mrs. Gus Atherton.
The Ritual of the Church—Miss Brown.

Some Noted Women and Their Missions—Mrs. Nevins.
In the Slums of London—Mrs. Woolson.

Following the program delicious supper was served the members and following guests: Mesdames A. Bennett, E. S. Randolph, Arthur Baldwin, E. T. Rugg, F. M. Ball, Henry Sachs, Fulton Taylor, G. A. Ball, Jr., J. W. Shaw, Joseph Duke, Charles Beebott, Edward Johnson, Gus Atherton, Elizabeth K. Metz, Miss Barbara Moritz, and Rev. J. A. Bennett.

The meeting of the Monday Talks was held on the club day this week at the home of Mrs. T. A. Cosgrove. The program, which follows, was rendered as on the calendar:

Life at San Marco in Florence—Mrs. H. D. Woodbridge.
Savonarola, Prior of San Marco, Preacher and Reformer—Mrs. L. P. Franklin.

Current Events—Mrs. W. H. Davis.
The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. H. Davis on Elmwood avenue.

The following cards were received today:

Mrs. Frank Windle
At Home
Friday, January twenty-fourth
Two to five.

Thimbles. R.S.V.P.
A very pretty juvenile party was given on last Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. A. V. Davis. In honor of her little daughter Anna's fourth birthday. Music and numerous games presided over by Mrs. Davis, assisted by Mesdames Nussbaum and Jones, sent the moments of the afternoon flying and at five o'clock the little guests were treated to a dainty lunch.

Those present were: Russell Wyeth, Franklin Scott, Jack Nussbaum, Felix Jones, Clarence Davis, Laura Beggs, Emelyn Close, Carroll Wyeth, Mary Kibler, Angela Kennedy, Helen Sanford and the small hostess. All went home happy and wishing little Miss Anna "many happy returns of the day."

Miss Helen Felger of Hudson avenue entertained a party of her friends at cards Friday evening. Dainty refreshments were served.

The Alfretha club will give the fifth and last of their series of dances at Assembly hall on Thursday evening of next week.

A merry party of masqueraders surprised Leo Ryan at his home on Eastern avenue on Thursday evening. Games and dancing furnished the evening's entertainment and dainty refreshments were served the following: Marjory Fisher, Marguerite O'Connor, Mary Connolly, Helen Stapleton, Mary Heffley, Bess Rafferty, Anna George, Lillian Parson, Mabel McNeer, Mary Hudson, Gertrude Rogers, George Smeltz, Howard Mueller, Joseph Fisher, James Brown, Peter McKinley, Herbert Jenkins, John Kennedy, Lawrence Prior, John McLaughlin, Carl Sinsbaugh, George Elworthy, Leo Ryan, Edward Ryan.

The prettiest home event of the past week was the euchre party given by Mrs. John Braddock at her Hudson avenue residence on Wednesday afternoon. The rooms were beautiful with their decorations of a profusion of carnations, and the larger number of players made the card game an animated one. When the last game was concluded, the trophies were awarded Mrs. C. W. Miller and Mrs. A. B. Schaeffer.

At five o'clock an appetizing supper was served. Covers were laid for the following: Mesdames O. C. Jones, W. H. Davis, Jesse Elliott, Frank Elliott, William Maholin, Charles Gillette, Eliza Symons, D. M. Smith, Walter Upson, Eliza Jackson, Frank Bolton, Frank Schimpf, Frank Fitzgibbon, Walter Scott, W. H. Mazy, Walter Smith, E. H. Franklin, J. P. H. Stedem, George Blood, James Irwin, George Cordray, Annis Lawhead, Frank Dowden, E. T. Rugg, George Starritt, Walter Ferguson, W. D. Hopkins, H. B. Anderson, F. L. Beggs, L. P. Schaus, J. P. Carroll Eugene Koss, Mrs. Howard Jones, Daniel Alshool, E. S. Williams, Charles Browne, Henry Fordyce, W. M. Baldwin, Misses Mayme Scott, Jane Irwin, Helen Crane, Lillian Latimer, Louise Jones, Mrs. Charles Courter of Pataskala, Mrs. J. R. Harrigan of Eau Claire, Wis.

Mrs. Robert Davidson entertained the Tuesday Bridge club at her Hudson avenue home this week. The prizes were won by Miss Charlotte Neal, Miss Simonds and Mrs. Howard Jones. Tea was served by Mrs. Daughery, assisted by Miss Robbins.

The guests were: Mrs. Howard Jones, Mrs. Rankin, Mrs. Marion, Mrs. Alshool, Mrs. Daughery, Mrs. Wolcott, Mrs. E. T. Johnson, Mrs. Upson, Misses March, Emma Spencer, and Miss Dennis.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Simpson of 143 Granville street, entertained the following guests in honor of the visit of Mrs. Margaret Hoffman and Mrs. Lydia McCarron, mother and niece of Mrs. Simson, and both of Baltimore, Md.: Mr. and Mrs. O. Ramey, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Avery, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Marceau, Miss Gwendolyn Ramey and Dr. Charles Keller. Progressive pedro was indulged in and prizes were awarded to Mrs. G. W. Avery and Mr. L. E. Marceau.

Elder and Mrs. W. H. Hickman of 237 West Locust street, were calling on the sick Friday evening, January 17, and on their return home early in the evening, found their home filled with the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Coksey, W. H. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Black, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Lawrence and Mrs. D. E. Resin, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bigbee, Mrs. H. H. Prior, Mrs. Rachel Stevens, Mrs. Mabel C. Butler, Miss Olive Black, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Hickman, Mrs. S. E. Vandenberg, Miss Grace Rasin, Mr. Walter Prior, Miss Fuller Sims, Mr. Roger Prior, Miss Louise Black, Mr. J. L. Patterson, Miss Sarah F. Prior, Miss Lillian Patterson, Miss Ocie Miller, Miss Elizabeth Armstrong, Miss Nellie Mead, Mr. John O. Palmer, Mr. Willard Palmer, Miss Leona Cooksey. The out of town guests were Elder W. L. Flemer of Tennyson, Ind., Elder W.

M. Shoemaker of Ashley, O., Miss Ada Prior of Nashport, O., Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hale of Zanesville. On Elder and Mrs. Hickman entering their home, and finding this company present, they threw up both hands, and acknowledged they were delightedly surprised, and the surprise was perfect and complete. Soon after a sumptuous spread was served, and after a pleasant social evening all departed in a happy frame of mind.

The Colonial Leap Year ball was given on Thursday evening at Assembly hall by the Married People's Assembly. After the guests had assembled, one paused momentarily for one of the heroes of '76 to lead the dance, for surely the costumes worn had no connection with our modern attire. The costumes of the gentlemen were striking and the gowns of the ladies were beautiful.

An elaborate supper was served the following dancers: Mr. and Mrs. J. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Koss, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. C. Besuden, Mr. and Mrs. McGruder, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hollander, Mr. and Mrs. Mazy, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Alshool, Mr. and Mrs. John Swisher, Mr. and Mrs. Beggs, Mr. and Mrs. Felix, Mr. and Mrs. Harrington Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Schaeffer, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Black, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Black, Mr. and Mrs. George Blood, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Williams, Mr. and Mrs. John Franklin, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. O. J., and Miss Judy of Columbus.

The Mission Circle of the Second Presbyterian church spent a delightful evening Monday in the church parlors.

Mrs. Cyrus Nevins read a paper on the Hawaiian Islands and illustrated it with a number of pictures of the island. She also had a collection of numerous articles of interest sent from the island from a friend who resides there.

The coffee served during the evening was from the Sandwich Islands. Mrs. Ludwig rendered a very pretty vocal solo.

On Thursday evening the Alpha Pi fraternity of Coshocton gave a dance in Forbe's Hall. Those present from the Newark chapter were: Raymond Hohl, Walter Tyrer, Brown Strader, Kenneth Farmer, Robert Brennan, Raymond Redman, Fred Swartz, Carl Erman, Ray Patterson, Will Hohl, Will Young.

A very pleasant surprise party was given on Miss Lucy Heffley at her home on Dewey avenue on Friday evening by her school friends. Music and games furnished the evening's entertainment and at 9:30 a delicious supper was served a number of guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitehead on Sunday at their rooms in the Avalon, gave a turkey dinner, complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Doughty.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Doughty, Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Fiehr, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Whitehead, Mr. and Mrs. Will Flohr, Mrs. Dan Doughty and daughter and Mr. Lawrence Flohr.

A number of the friends of Mrs. Andrew Legos planned a very successful surprise on Mrs. Andrew Legos on Saturday evening at her home on North street. The evening was spent with cards, pedro being the game and the trophies were awarded Mrs. Charles Grey and Mr. James Thomas, while the consolations were received by Mrs. Ned Sherburne and Mr. George Place.

Dainty refreshments were served and Mrs. Legos was the recipient of a number of beautiful gifts.

HENRY WAS ANGRY.
Henry Miller, who is starring in "The Great Divide," with Margaret Anglin, was in Pittsburgh last week, but he says it will be his last week there. Henry is very mad and declared himself against theatrical critics of Pittsburgh, saying in part:

"I have decided to cut Pittsburgh out hereafter until I am assured that there will be no more unjust criticisms of my playing and my plays. I mean it. I have been meanly and unjustly criticised here, and I will not allow myself to be booked here again."

Miller was playing at the Nixon theater. Last Sunday his acting was criticised in a local paper, also his play. Tuesday night as the show was nearing its end there was a small fire back of the stage, and part of the audience, smelling the smoke, became uneasy and some started to leave. I was in the midst of a trying part on Miller and Miss Anglin, and Miller was so distressed in his own work that he did not notice the smoke. He saw only the people leaving, and thinking the adverse criticism was getting in its work, he rushed to the footlights and implored the audience to come back and give him a chance. On finding later that he had been mistaken, Miller became wild with rage and, coming before the curtain, berated the critic who had made him lose his temper, calling him a "dobber" and an ass. Miller was roundly hissed.

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.
For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, and backache.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

For proof of this statement read the following letters.

Mrs. Barbara Base, of Kingman, Kansas, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For eight years I suffered from the most severe form of female troubles and was told that an operation was my only hope of recovery. I wrote Mrs. Pinkham for advice, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has saved my life and made me a well woman."

Mrs. Arthur B. House, of Church Road, Moorestown, N. J., writes:

"I feel it is my duty to let people know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered from female troubles, and last March my physician decided that an operation was necessary. My husband objected, and urged me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and to-day I am well and strong."

M. Shoemaker of Ashley, O., Miss Ada Prior of Nashport, O., Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hale of Zanesville. On Elder and Mrs. Hickman entering their home, and finding this company present, they threw up both hands, and acknowledged they were delightedly surprised, and the surprise was perfect and complete. Soon after a sumptuous spread was served, and after a pleasant social evening all departed in a happy frame of mind.

The Colonial Leap Year ball was given on Thursday evening at Assembly hall by the Married People's Assembly. After the guests had assembled, one paused momentarily for one of the heroes of '76 to lead the dance, for surely the costumes worn had no connection with our modern attire. JUDGE BRISTER

One of the Speakers at Columbus Dinner of Sons of the American Revolution.

The 14th annual dinner of the Benjamin Franklin Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution, was held in the Franklin County Memorial Hall in Columbus, Friday evening January 17. It was the 20th anniversary of the birth of the illustrious Franklin, and was royally celebrated. Among the speakers on the program who responded to toasts was Judge E. M. P. Brister, of this city, who spoke on "Benjamin Franklin."

Probate Judge Brister has received the following notifications from Dr. George Stockton, superintendent of the Columbus State Hospital, regarding Licking county patients:
Rosalie J. Myers, died January 3, 1908.
John Dague, returned to the institution January 3, 1908.
John Ridenhour was granted a trial visit December 22, 1907.
George Dunlap, granted a trial visit December 25, 1907.
Ella Holmes, granted a trial visit December 26, 1907.
Susan Brennan granted a trial visit December 21, 1907.

PUT OUT FIRE HERSELF.

Zanesville, Jan. 18.—While she was standing on a chair with her back to the grate, hanging lace curtains yesterday, Miss Anna Donnelly's dress caught fire. She rushed from the house into the yard, turned the water on from the hydrant, and threw herself under the stream, thus saving her life, though she was frightfully burned.

YACHT CLUB

Of Buckeye Lake Will Hold Big Meeting in Columbus—Banquet Will be a Feature.

The second annual Tar Social of the Buckeye Lake Yacht club will be held in Columbus, January 29, at 7.30 o'clock. A big time is promised and if it is as successful as the one that was held last year, all those that attend will have no cause to complain.

Many well known rachtsmen will be in attendance and will speak at the banquet, and there will be plenty to eat, drink and smoke if the invitations are correct. Taken all the way through an interesting program has been arranged.

The governors in charge are: Chas. D. Lynch, Lawrence A. Sackett and Guy A. Sackett, of Columbus; Frank A. Chase, Fred G. Speer, J. F. Cherry, J. T. Haynes and A. C. Hatch of Newark.

How Is Your Blood?

If you lack strength, are nervous, have no appetite, don't sleep well, get tired easily, your blood is in bad condition. You cannot be strong without pure, rich blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes good, rich blood and keeps it good.

Dyspepsia—For six months my system was out of order with dyspepsia and indigestion. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me. J. S. ZATKA, Genoa, Neb.

Weak No Appetite—"I was troubled with dyspepsia and had no appetite. I had a faint feeling after eating. My constitution was all run down, but Hood's Sarsaparilla has fully restored me." Florence Snow, Sanderlin, Wisconsin.

Weakness—"I bless the day I heard of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it cured me of extreme weakness after grip, built my husband up after pneumonia, and cured eczema and blood-poisoning in our children." Mrs. M. A. DeWorm, 124 Emburyville, Pa.
Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold everywhere. In the usual liquid, or in tablet form called Sarsatabs. 100 Doses One Dollar. Prepared only by C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass.

RAILROAD LEGISLATION

MAY HAVE BEEN A CLEVER SCHEME TO UP-SET TWO-CENT FARE LAW.

Splendid Record of Democratic State Fire Marshal—Wants Probing Resumed.

Columbus, O., Jan. 18.—What is supposed to have been a scheme to get at the 2-cent fare law in a roundabout way and finally accomplish its overthrow was one of the sub-rosa incidents of the week in the legislature. So cautious were those who engineered the move and so reticent were the few who were consulted about it, for fear that exceeding caution may have made them over-suspicious that more than a majority of the members may still be unaware of any such design.

It all came about in this way. A committee representing railway conductors went to several members with a bill to provide that passengers who do not purchase tickets conductors shall collect 10 cents extra cash fare. The avowed purpose was to discourage the payment of cash fares on trains, which has become more common, especially for short trips, since the fare was reduced to 2 cents per mile. The proposition in itself looked simple and innocent enough, but the suspicious part of it was that

B. F. GAYMAN, Franklin County Senator, Who Would Punish Stenographers For Tattling.

It was made an amendment to the 2-cent fare law even to making it a part of the act as a proviso separated from the text of the law by a semicolon, thus making the amendment a part of the original act. The railroads could have gone into court to attack any provision of the amendment without appearing to attack the 2-cent rate, but as the courts can not make laws out of unfinished sentences or parts of sentences, after declaring other parts invalid a decision in favor of the railroads would have thrown out the entire law.

Senator Lamb was one of the few asked to introduce the patched up bill, but after examining it he concluded to "let well enough alone." Representative Freiner was also asked to introduce it, but he looked at it first out of one eye then out of the other—for Mr. Freiner jealously watches the act which gave him prominence at the session two years ago and which made Ohio the pace-maker for reduced railroad fares—and he concluded that it was not a good combination.

It was a bold stroke to ask the author of 2-cent fare to introduce a bill that could be used to kill it after it became a law, but if Mr. Freiner could have been blindly led into such a pitfall how completely it would have disarmed suspicion of other members.

One thing that aroused suspicion was the committee having the bill in charge claimed all the conductors in Ohio wanted it so as to save themselves the trouble of collecting so many cash fares, but when other conductors were asked about it they said that those who were back of the proposition were merely trying to curry favor at headquarters.

Finally Mr. Freiner separated the amendment from the original bill and introduced it as a supplemental section, then, if it should pass and the courts knock it out the original 2-cent fare act will stand unshaken.

Mr. Freiner's bill to take the taxing of railroads out of the hands of county auditors and the equalizing of railway taxes out of the hands of the state auditor, treasurer and attorney general, will bring the railroad lobbyists to town in greater number than 2-cent fare did two years ago. This new Freiner bill would create a state tax board of three men appointed by the governor, for term of five years each, who are to devote all their time to official duties at an annual salary of $7,000 each. It is Mr. Freiner's belief that to create such a board for the explicit purpose of fixing tax values on the property of steam and electric railroads, water transportation companies, express, telephone and telegraph companies, would obviate many of the scandals that have been disclosed in recent years relative to the present methods of taxing such corporations. Under the present system the original appraisal of each railway, for instance, is made by the auditors of the counties traversed by such railway, of whom the auditor of the county having the largest tax duplicate is ex-officio chairman, which gives him the greatest influence. As most of the railways touch at least one of the four counties having the four largest cities in the state, the interest of railways in the election of auditors of such counties can not be mistaken if the people will stop to think it over. The bill is in line with a recommendation of the state tax commission.

Stenographers in Ohio suspect but are not altogether certain about the purpose of Senator Gayman's bill, which assumes in its title "to protect the employers of stenographers." They do not quite understand why their employers are any more in need of protection than they are themselves. But the provision of the bill which would authorize a fine of from $25 to $500 and imprisonment not exceeding six months in jail for a stenographer who would reveal the employer's correspondence makes the object of the bill plain enough. The bill was suggested by the experience W. L. Finley, state oil inspector, had with a stenographer who tried to make trouble for him by disclosing to the governor what was represented to be a translation of short-hand notes. Occasionally the peddling of short-hand notes has been at the expense of men in private life, and the Gayman bill seeks to reach that sort of breach of faith by making it a misdemeanor.

A Democrat in the office of state fire marshal has demonstrated how a public office can be conducted in the interests of the people more effectively and at less cost than when it is made a kind of political bureau. This office is supported by a tax on fire insurance companies which, of course, comes indirectly from the policyholders. Its chief purpose is to ferret out and prosecute fire-bugs. D. S. Creamer of St. Clairsville, who was appointed by Governor Pattison, shows that out of the $68,173 available for the maintenance of the office during the year, a balance of $11,084 will be turned into the state treasury. Nor has this saving been at the expense of service, for during the year the fire marshal's department has brought about 72 convictions for incendiarism, which is more than double any previous year's record, and more than Mr. Creamer's predecessor, Hy Davis of Cleveland, had in two years. Mr. Creamer has made the department of some value to the general public, as well as to insurance companies, by scientific research concerning the phenomena of electrical storms and bulletins giving warning of various causes of fires. More Democratic officials like Mr. Creamer are needed in the state house.

The initiative and referendum resolution will come to a vote in the senate early next week, it having been favorably reported by the senate's committee on elections.

Senator Espy wants the probing of Cincinnati resumed. Since the report of the Drake investigating committee Mr. Espy introduced a resolution to have a joint committee of three senators and three members of the house appointed to continue the good work. ORWELL C. RIDDLE.

Terrible Liquor Craving.

How Orrine Destroys All Desire for Whiskey and Beer.

The terrible craving for liquor is a symptom of disease, and to overcome it, the disease itself should be treated in a scientific way. When one has used whiskey, beer or other stimulants for a long time, the nerve cells have become accustomed to the effects of the stimulants and demand liquor in order to perform their duty. If the nerve cells are properly treated, the craving for liquor will be destroyed. It is in this way that Orrine cures alcoholism by supplying to the nerve cells the strength needed, thus destroying the desire for liquor. It eradicates every particle of the terrible liquor craving, imparts new strength and vigor to the whole system and restores the general health. Treatise on "Drunkennes" free on request. The Orrine Co., Washington, D. C.

Successful has Orrine been that in every box is a registered guarantee that entitles you to a refund of your money if you fail to effect a cure. Orrine is a treatment for the liquor habit and in this way, a guarantee like this shows the faith of the discoverer of Orrine and the agents who handle it, the leading druggists everywhere. Orrine is in two forms, No. 1, which can be taken secretly in food or drink, No. 2, in pill form for those who desire to be cured. Either form costs $1.00 per box, and both are sold under the liberal guarantee that your money will be refunded if Orrine fails to cure. Orrine is for sale by Frank D. Hall.

How Is Your Digestion?
Mrs. Mary Dowling of No. 228 8th ave., San Francisco, recommends a remedy for stomach trouble. She says: "Gratitude for the wonderful effect of Electric Bitters in a case of acute indigestion, prompts this testimonial. I am fully convinced that for stomach and liver troubles, Electric Bitters is the best remedy on the market today." This great tonic and alterative medicine invigorates the system, purifies the blood and is especially helpful in all forms of female weakness. 50c. at F. D. Hall's drug store.

HOW COLONEL SINCLAIR WON A SLAVE.

(Original.)

It was somewhere in the fifties that I was going up the Mississippi, and, though I didn't gamble myself, I managed to get rid of a great deal of time that would have otherwise hung heavily on my hands, overlooking the different tables where the games, mostly seven up and poker, were played.

There was a very intelligent negro boy employed aboard the boat who had been hired out by his master to do odd jobs for fees, his master pocketing a round sum annually. The boy—Bob was his name—had made a great many friends among the people who were in the habit of traveling on the river. Most of them knew that anything they gave him would go to his master, and all wished that he might be free and have something for himself. But time went on, and Bob continued to navigate the Mississippi, gathering in funds for the man who owned him.

On this particular trip Larkins, the boy's master, was aboard the boat. There was also a Colonel Sinclair aboard, who had long taken a great interest in Bob and whom the negro fairly worshipped. I overheard Sinclair and Larkins, sitting on the guard with their feet on the rail, talking about Bob. Sinclair vainly trying to induce Larkins to name a price he would take for the boy. Larkins declared that his property paid him an interest on $10,000, and he would not sell him for less. This of course stopped any further dickerings.

A day or two later, when we were approaching New Orleans, on passing through the men's cabin I saw Larkins, Sinclair, a horse dealer and a liquor dealer sitting at poker. They were just beginning to play when I stopped to overlook the game. A few minutes later Bob passed by, and Sinclair called to him to bring liquors for the party. Bob went to the bar, a little boxlike affair at the forward end of the cabin, and soon returned with four large tumblers containing the juleps. Bob set the juleps down and was about to withdraw when Sinclair, tossing him a dollar, said:

"Stay where you are, Bob. We'll want another julep directly."

Bob stationed himself behind the colonel's chair, watching the game with a keen interest—for he had seen many a game and could have played a poker hand himself—now and again going to fetch refreshments and such other articles as the party needed.

My eyes happening to fall on the colonel's hands while he was dealing, I detected him drawing the cards that fell to Larkins from the bottom of the pack. I was aware that on the Mississippi this was considered legitimate between professional gamblers and only inexcusable and often dangerous among others when discovered. I therefore said nothing, but, sliding round behind the colonel, I looked at his hand. He held three kings, an ace and a seven spot. He opened a jack pot with $500. The horse dealer went in, the liquor dealer passed out, and the colonel raised the amount $1,000. Larkins threw up his ace and seven spot, drawing two cards, one of which gave him another king, making four. The horse dealer passed out, and the colonel drew one card. He drew a long pocketbook, from which he took $2,000 and put it on the pile.

The only hand in poker that could beat Larkins' four kings was four aces or a straight flush. Since he had held an ace the first could not be held by any one, and the only way he could be beaten was by a straight flush. The colonel had drawn to this and might have filled, but there is no better chance for a bluff than drawing one card for a flush, and every one at the table believed that Sinclair was bluffing. Larkins saw the colonel's $2,000 and raised him $2,000. At that moment I saw the colonel look at Bob, who was standing behind the liquor man. Bob edged himself behind the colonel and on seeing his hand uttered an involuntary "Gosh!" then looked very much frightened at what he had done. The colonel turned and gave him a scowl. Then a disappointed look settled on his face, as though Bob's betrayal of his hand had prevented his winning untold thousands. Taking out his pocketbook, he laid an enormous package of bills on the table. They were not counted, nor did Larkins care to count them. He had heard Bob's exclamation and seen the look on his face, indicating that the colonel held a wonderful hand, which must surely be a flush. He threw down his hand, and the colonel raked in the heap.

Larkins on taking out his pocketbook found that he had little or nothing left. He had dropped $5,000.

"I'll tell you what I'll do," said the colonel to the man who had been hard hit. "I'll buy Bob with my winnings. I'll give you the pile for him."

Larkins struggled between his desire to keep his revenue in Bob and his need of ready money. The ready money prevailed, and a bill of sale having been made and signed, the colonel pushed his winnings over to Larkins and rose from the table. The colonel offered to make Bob free, but Bob insisted on remaining the colonel's slave and did so till the war made him free. But during his slavery Sinclair would never take a cent of his earnings. I had seen plainly that Sinclair had laid a plan with Bob to get him out of his master's clutches. His method was not above reproach, and I would have interfered with the success of the proceeding had I not considered that no man had a right to the fruits of another's labor. In other words, I was an abolitionist. EDMOND COMPTON.

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the approval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

CONVENTION

Of Y. M. C. A. at Delaware Next Month—The Laymen Are to Have Full Control.

The laymen is to have full say and the official is to keep shut at the state convention of the Ohio Y. M. C. A.—so says the executive committee in its progress and prospects.

The meeting will be held at Delaware, Ohio, February 21 to 24 inclusive. The convention topic will be "The Layman's Opportunity." The speakers thus far engaged are Dr. Luther Halsey Gulick of New York; Herbert B. Briggs of Cleveland; Dr. Edward A. Steiner of Grinnell, Ia., and Dr. Graham Taylor of Chicago, with others to hear from. The addresses will be "The Young Men's Christian Association the Laymen's Opportunity for Service"; "Lay Leadership Indispensable in the Development of Association Work"; "Specific Opportunities for Lay Workers in the Association"; "The Association's Obligation in the Americanization of Foreign-Speaking Young Men"; "Personality the Basis of All Christian Service"; and "The Association's Opportunity in Awakening the Consciences of Young Men."

Associations in the state are urged to send their full quota of delegates from the ranks, and to send their paid officers as corresponding members. The executive committee, responsible for this radical departure from custom is composed of H. B. Briggs of Cleveland, Jesse Vickery of Bellevue, and J. W. Perkins of Cincinnati.

CONDITION SERIOUS

Charles Burkham Injured Some Weeks Ago in B. & O. Wreck Suffering from Blood Clot.

The condition of Mr. Chas. Burkham, of the Juliet flats, is very serious, and it is thought by the physicians in attendance that Mr. Burkham can not last through the day.

Mr. Burkham, it will be remembered, was injured in the B. & O. wreck at Bellaire some weeks ago, and has never fully recovered from that experience, and is suffering from a blood clot on the brain, probably caused by injuries sustained in the disaster. At this writing he is unconscious.

Jeffery to the Newark Ladies Who Investigated.

Mrs. Theo. Ball and Mrs. Ross Smith visited the Licking County Infirmary Wednesday afternoon, and were very cordially received. The ladies were shown through the building from garret to cellar and found a uniform cleanliness and sanitary condition existing throughout the institution. The ladies wrote to the Advocate that they thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon spent with the directors and the family at the home. In closing they say "they hope to call again some time, but not to stay."

CASE AFTER CASE.

Plenty More Like This in Newark. Scores of Newark people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

Amos Frey, Tobacco seven miles east of Newark, O., says: "I have been entirely free from kidney trouble since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me over eleven years ago. Prior to that time I suffered severely from pains through the small of my back and loins which were always aggravated by the least exertion. If I sat in one position for any length of time, my back became so sore that I suffered untold misery. I used several remedies, but the relief obtained was slight and I continued to grow worse until I was in a serious condition. I finally read of Doan's Kidney Pills and as they were highly recommended for complaints similar to mine, I procured a box at Crayton's drug store. They acted just as represented, going directly to the seat of my trouble and ridding me of all pain. I have always highly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills and deem it a pleasure to do so whenever an opportunity presents itself."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Mulburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

SECRET SOCIETIES

Hay Makers.
As the hay is getting and the list of applications is quite large, arrangements will be made next Friday night for a "hay make" to be held the first part of next month.

Modern Woodmen.
Cedar Camp No. 4727, M. W. of A. met in regular session, with all officers and 142 members present. Twenty members were elected, and the ceremony of adoption was performed by the Forester team. Neighbor B. F. McDonald installed the following officers for the year 1908: Past Consul, John M. Lambert. Consul, O. B. Young. Advisor, W. A. Mikescill. Banker, H. C. Cramer. Clerk, E. C. Richardson. Escort, J. W. Shirk. Watchman, A. V. Harter. Sentry, F. Queen. Manager, A. S. Mitchell.

A new proposition was made at Monday night's meeting, that when Cedar Camp reaches the 1300 beneficial mark that the camp give a turkey supper to the members who secure a beneficial or beneficial transfer member. All adoptions secured on and after January 20, will be counted. After the installation of officers a social time was enjoyed and short speeches were made by members. J. S. Albaugh was reported on the sick list, also J. E. Curtis, of Pataskala, Pa.

For a long time past the members of Cedar Camp have been working to increase the membership of the camp to 1200, and in order to attain that much desired end, all the active members devoted themselves to the task of securing new members. Recently the much coveted number was reached and passed, and Cedar Camp became the banner camp of the state. It was then decided to give a turkey supper to those who had labored so diligently in securing new members and also to the new members themselves. Mr. J. M. Lambert was chairman of the committee on arrangements, and on Thursday night the supper, which was prepared by Mr. J. S. Kuster, Newark's well known caterer, was served, and too much praise cannot be given him for the excellence of the spread. The banquet was held in the dining room of the lodge with a social session in the lodge room. Two hundred and seventy-seven persons sat down to the banquet, for which 14 turkeys, weighing 252 pounds, were needed. Following is the menu:

Turkey
Cranberries Oyster Dressing
Giblet Gravy Mashed Potatoes
White and Brown Bread
Celery Coffee

Ice Cream, Cake
Interesting talks were made by Attorney B. F. McDonald, Prof. Mac Mossman, W. V. Walton, Dr. F. M. O'Hara, J. M. Lambert and E. M. Larson.

One of the features of the evening was the fancy drill given by the Woodmen team.

The entire affair was the most successful in every respect, ever given by the camp, and the pleasures of the occasion will long linger in memory of all who were present.

American Insurance Union.
Newark Chapter No. 24, A. I. U., met in regular session Thursday evening with a full attendance. The marshal found three candidates in waiting who were conducted through the work by the Ladies' Degree staff.

The sick committee reports seven members on the sick list, but none seriously sick.

Coshocton Chapter No. 130 held a very interesting social session Wednesday evening. Much interest is being manifested in this thriving little chapter.

Zanesville Chapter No. 35 gave a social and dance Friday evening.

The leap year dance given by the Newark Chapter, on January 2, proved to be the most successful of the season, over 100 couples being present. The next regular bi-weekly dance will be given next Thursday evening, January 23.

YEOMEN NOTICE.
All members of Newark Homestead, No. 1269, and Bush Bee Homestead, No. 172, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, are requested to meet in their hall, over the Great Western clothing store at 12-24, sharp, Sunday, January 20, to attend the funeral of our late brother, D. W. Matticks.

By order of joint committee.

Knights of Pythias.
At the last meeting of White Cross Lodge Knights of Pythias of Johnstown, the rank of Esquire was conferred on three candidates. As the officers for the ensuing term were installed, the meeting Thursday night was public to the members of the lodge and their families.

At the meeting of Roland Lodge, No. 305, Knights of Pythias, held on Thursday evening, Messrs. P. L. Pratt, C. C. Forry and H. L. Rexroth were elected trustees of the Pythian Castle association. The recently elected officers of the lodge were installed by Deputy Grand Chancellor, C. L. H. Long, assisted by Past Chancellors P. L. Pratt, A. B. Courtney, and William Graef and F. C. Tomlinson, as follows:

P. C., T. C. Hawkins.
C. C., H. L. Rexroth.
V. C., C. L. Vanatta.
Prelate, W. H. Miles.
M. of W., T. C. Hawkins.
K. R. S., J. B. Courtney.
M. of F., J. M. Ankele.
M. of E., C. L. H. Long.
M. at A., A. N. Banton.
I. G., Harry Nutter.

The board to canvass the vote for the grand lodge election of Knights of Pythias of Ohio, met Wednesday. The result of the election is as follows:

Grand chancellor, John A. Kingold, of Cumminsville; V. C., Jacob Woehle, of Columbus; G. Prelate, Clem V. Hoke, of Van Wert; G. M. of E., Geo. B. Donavin, of Columbus; G. M. A., Spence Wallace, Steubenville; G. I. G., Jas. H. Walker, Cleveland; G. O. G., Samuel A. Hoskins, Wapakoneta; supreme representatives, Chas. J. Deckman of Malver; John W. Winn, of Defiance.

Odd Fellows.
The Odd Fellows of Johnstown will install their recently elected officers for the ensuing term this evening, January 18. D. D. G. M., B. Snyder of Pataskala, will serve as installing officer.

At the regular meeting of Olive Branch Lodge, No. 34, I. O. O. F., held on last Tuesday evening, the following officers were installed for the ensuing term by District Deputy Grand Master, F. E. Slabaugh, of Hebron, assisted by a number of brothers of Williams Lodge, No. 363:

N. G., Leonard Essman; V. G., A. N. Snyder; Rec. Sec., G. W. Christman; Fin. Sec., Geo. A. Platto; Chaplain, L. C. Hall; R. S. to N. G., W. F. Smith; R. S. to V. G., H. L. Ross; L. S. to V. G., Bart. Fitterer; conductor, Clint. McGath; warden, G. M. Starr; O. G., Wm. Evans; I. G., M. T. Rector; R. S. S., H. E. Kennitzer; L. S. S., L. V. Roberts.

At the meeting next Tuesday evening there will be work in one or more of the degrees and it is earnestly requested that all members be present and assist the newly installed officers in conferring the degrees in their usually creditable manner.

At the last regular meeting of St. Louisville lodge, No. 850, I. O. O. F. held Saturday night, January 11, the officers elect were installed as follows:

N. G., Ora Williams.
V. G., A. L. Nethers.
R. S. N. G., A. W. Hartman.
L. S. N. G., S. Bullock.
Warden, Charles Dwiggins.
Conductor, T. W. Richards.
R. S. S., Jesse Hughes.
L. S. S., More Fowler.
O. S. G., Cal Warner.
I. S. G., T. B. Sensabaugh.
Chaplain, Walter Bailey.
R. S. V. G., C. G. Walker.
L. S. V. G., John Lambert.

Royal Arcanum.
The report ending December 31, 1907, shows a net cash balance of $4,763,118.67.

Increased interest is being manifested in the meetings of Bayard Taylor Council, and the talks given by the different members are very interesting and instructive. Brother Gilbert is a musician, a dealer in musical instruments, a teacher of music, a scholar and an orator, and his talk was very interesting and instructive.

Dr. Anderson will entertain at the next session of the Council.

Brother Matticks' death was the first to be recorded this year. There were seven deaths last year.

Masonic.
The annual inspection of Newark lodge No. 97, F. & A. M., of this city, was held Friday afternoon and evening, when the work was inspected by Deputy Grand Master C. S. Hoshington of Zanesville. The Master Mason's degree was conferred on four candidates. There was a large attendance of the members and the

ARRESTED
In Columbus Was Newark Girl Who Is Wanted Here on Robbery Charge—Police Court.

Rhoda McGee is under arrest in Columbus on the charge of robbing William C. Erdice, a Pittsburg, in a resort in this city Tuesday night. The girl was arrested and locked up in the city prison. Chief Sheridan went to that city for her this afternoon, and she will probably be given her hearing in Monday's session of police court.

Erdice, on his own admission, was intoxicated and went to this resort. He claimed he had $53 in cash and a check for $700 in his pocketbook. Later he says he saw the McGee girl and another one "frisking" his clothing, and on examination he found the "leather" missing. He appeared before Mayor Altherton, Thursday, and swore out a warrant for the girl's arrest. She could not be located in this city and the police of the surrounding towns were given a description of her and ordered to arrest her, and hold her until local officers could arrive and return her to this city.

An old man and his wife were arrested last night and charged with being drunk and disturbing the peace, the arrest was made on complaint of some neighbors. Their case was to be heard this afternoon at 1 o'clock. The man in the case is aged 80 years.

Two young men were arrested last night upon complaint of another, who charged them with the theft of a ferret. The case will be heard in this afternoon's session of police court.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The B. & O. railroad company is putting in new track scales in the Mansfield yards to take the place of the old scales, which have worn out.

The usual midwinter merchants' rates to New York, at one and a third fares for the round trip, on the certificate plan, have been authorized, effective February 29 and March 4, with 15 day limit.

An exchange puts it this way: "Owing to the overcrowded condition of our columns this week, a number of births and deaths have been postponed until next week."

AMUSEMENTS

WHO GETS IT?

There is a lot of speculation as to who will get the Auditorium for the next season—or more—for the doubtful and favorable chances are apparently very well divided.

There are just two candidates, E. T. Johnson, the present incumbent, and W. D. Harris. Mr. Johnson has managed the theater for the past season, and year before last, was co-manager with Mr. Charles E. Matthews. He has been instrumental in securing some excellent attractions for Newark, and has managed the house satisfactorily.

Mr. Harris is also a Newark man, and one of very extensive acquaintance in the theatrical profession. His experience has been long and successful. During the past summer he was in charge of Myers Lake park, just out of Canton, O. This a resort of more than the average importance, principally because of its location. Mr. Harris' management of the theater and park in general was given the most flattering approval by the company he represented, and also by theatrical managers who know a showman when they deal with him. It is hinted by those who appear to know, that Newark is a show town of some importance, in fact, of such importance that one or two big New York syndicates, and perhaps one from Philadelphia, are interested in the securing of a manager. Of course, the selection of a manager is wholly up to the local board of trustees who will deal out the medicine next Monday night. That is, provided nothing interferes.

There have been two proposals of outright leasing of the theater, and two for the regular consideration by means of ballots.

MY DIXIE GIRL.

The one word that spells success in a theatrical entertainment is "action." Action that tells the story in itself. In the comedy drama "My Dixie Girl," which will be the attraction at the Auditorium tonight there is action from curtain to curtain. Action that stirs the blood, that causes the nerves to tingle and the heart to bound with the joy of something doing.

THE KREUTZER SONATA.

"The Kreutzer Sonata," in which Blanche Walsh is to appear at the Auditorium on Tuesday evening, is a new play, first produced in Chicago, where it made a most sensational success. Jacob Gorlin, the playwright is a Russian Jew about fifty years old. This is the first play he has written with the action laid in America. Without gloves he handles a subject which is touched upon daily in the papers as now, but is rarely treated boldly in amusements. His lines are as bald as the notes of a court reporter. His plot will be preached about, no doubt, and condemned because of the public exploitation of conditions which are rarely spoken of except as scandal. Many persons will say the topic is one that should not be touched upon by the play builder. But with all of his truth and boldness, Mr. Gorlin is not offensive. The production possesses the usual artistic and thorough scenic effects that always mark the plays presented by Wagenhals and Kemper, and Miss Walsh is supported by an excellent company.

MA'S NEW HUSBAND.

Play goes who like to keep abreast of the times, in getting familiar with the latest and most popular song hits should not overlook the first visit to this city of "Ma's New Husband," which is due at the Auditorium on Thursday evening next. But the songs are only a minor feature of the performance, which reveals one of the most entertaining and humorous musical farces seen in many a day.

THE HOYDEN HERE?

Mr. Harry Fulton, of theatrical fame, who is advance business manager for Elsie Jans' successful vehicle, "The Hoyden," was in the city Wednesday, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Fulton, of 88 West Locust street. It is understood that Mr. Fulton was in conference with Manager Ernest T. Johnson of the Auditorium theater and that it is possible that "The Hoyden," with Miss Janis in the stellar role, will appear at the local play house in the near future.

NEW YORK CRITIC OUSTED.

George Henry Payne, who has been for many years "doing" dramatic and music criticisms for the New York Herald and the Telegram—the latter being the evening edition of the Herald—resigned one day recently, and the reason lies between James Gordon Bennett and several New York theatrical managers.

A number of the leading managerial lights of the metropolis became much offended by some of Mr. Payne's fearless criticisms of their productions—many of which received scorching, and many justly too. They got together a number of copies of the Herald and Telegram containing some of the critic's most gungy attacks and turned them over to the head of the newspaper with comment to the effect that Mr. Payne had criticized maliciously and hypocritically.

The result was a cablegram from Mr. Bennett, who is in Paris, ordering the release of Mr. Payne from further duties on the paper and requesting that the regular reporters be sent to review theaters and concerts. He cabled, in conclusion: "No critics shall run the Telegram;

the Telegram will run the critics."

ORPHUM THEATER.

Have you seen the bill this week? If not, don't miss one of the performances tonight as Archie Royer will do his final bumps to make you enjoy a good laugh. The balance of the show is up to the standard. The show for next week is headed by Louis Chevalier and company, three most accomplished performers of great repute. Zanfretta and Mansfield, comedy sketch, entitled "The Lazy Messenger Boy," Deverne and Van, singers and dancers, and Harry Tobaloo the wonderful equilibrist.

HAT CARNIVAL AT PALACE RINK.

The hat carnival at the Palace rink Thursday night was a great success. A prize of a silk shirt waist was captured by Mrs. John Lavelle for wearing the largest gent's hat, and Chas. Henry received a silk umbrella for wearing the smallest. Forrest Swartz was presented with a $3 hat for wearing the largest gents hat and Chas. McNeil with a silk umbrella for the smallest. The judges of the contest were Mrs. James Mills, Mrs. Chas. McNeil, Miss Anna Hyatt, Fred King, Dr. J. Lewis and John Adams.

WRITE US A LETTER

Commissioner Smith vs. The Standard Oil Co.

From the Railway World, January 3, 1908.

Mr. Herbert Knox Smith, whose zeal in the cause of economic reform has been in no wise abated by the panic which he and his kind did so much to bring on, is out with an answer to President Moffett, of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. The publication of this answer, it is officially given out, was delayed several weeks, "for business reasons," because it was not deemed advisable to further excite the public mind, which was profoundly disturbed by the crisis. Now that the storm clouds have rolled by, however, the Commissioner rushes again into the fray.

Our readers remember that the chief points in the defence of the Standard Oil Company, as presented by President Moffett, were, (1) that the rate of six cents on oil from Whiting to East St. Louis had been issued to the Standard Oil Company as the lawful rate by employees of the Alton, (2) that the 18-cent rate on file with the Interstate Commerce Commission was a class and not a commodity rate, never being intended to apply to oil, (3) that oil was shipped in large quantities between Whiting and East St. Louis over the Chicago and Eastern Illinois at six and one-fourth cents per hundred pounds, which has been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission as the lawful rate, and (4) that the 18-cent rate on oil was entirely out of proportion to lawful rates on other commodities between these points of a similar character, and of greater value, such, for example, as linseed oil, the lawful rate on which was eight cents. President Moffett also stated that thousands of tons of freight had been sent by other shippers between these points under substantially the same conditions as governed the shipments of the Standard Oil Company.

This defence of the Standard Oil Company was widely quoted and has undoubtedly exerted a powerful influence upon the public mind. Naturally the Administration, which has staked the success of its campaign against the "trusts" upon the result of its attack upon this company, endeavors to offset this influence, and hence the new deliverance of Commissioner Smith.

We need hardly to point out that his rebuttal argument is extremely weak, although as strong, no doubt, as the circumstances would warrant. He answers the points made by President Moffett substantially as follows: (1) The Standard Oil Company had a traffic department, and should have known that the six-cent rate had not been filed, (2) no answer, (3) the Chicago and Eastern Illinois rate was a secret rate because it read, not from Whiting, but from Dolton, which is described as "a village of about 1,500 population just outside of Chicago." Its only claim to note is that it has been for many years the point of origin for this and similar secret rates. The Commissioner admits in describing this rate that there was a note attached stating that the rate could also be used from Whiting.

The press has quite generally hailed this statement of the Commissioner of Corporations as a conclusive refutation of what is evidently recognized as the strongest rebuttal argument advanced by the Standard Oil Company.

Chicago. They terminate at Dolton, from which point entrance is made over the Belt Line. Whiting, where the oil freight originates, is not on the lines of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, which receives its Whiting freight from the Belt Line at Dolton. The former practice, now discontinued, in filing tariffs was to make them read from a point on the line of the filing road, and it was also general to state on the same sheet that the tariff would apply to other points, e. g. Whiting. The Chicago and Eastern Illinois followed this practice in filing its rate from Dolton, and making a note on the sheet that it applied to Whiting. This was in 1895 when this method of filing tariffs was in common use.

Now let us see in what way the intending shipper of oil could be misled and deceived by the fact that the Chicago and Eastern Illinois had not filed a rate reading from Whiting. Commissioner Smith contends that "concealment is the only motive for such a circuitous arrangement," i. e., that this method of filing the rate was intended to mislead intending competitors of the Standard Oil Company. Suppose such a prospective oil refiner had applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for the rate from Chicago to East St. Louis over the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, he would have been informed that the only rate filed with the commission by this company was 6 1/4 cents from Dolton, and he would have been further informed, if indeed he did not know this already, that this rate applied throughout Chicago territory. So that whether he wished to locate his plant at Whiting, or anywhere else about Chicago, under an arrangement of long standing, and which applies to all the industrial towns in the neighborhood of Chicago, he could have his freight delivered over the Belt Line to the Chicago and Eastern Illinois at Dolton and transported to East St. Louis at a rate of 6 1/4 cents. Where then is the concealment which the Commissioner of Corporations makes so much of? Any rate—from Dolton on the Eastern Illinois or Chappell on the Alton, or Harvey on the Illinois Central, or Blue Island on the Rock Island, applies throughout Chicago territory to shipments from Whiting, as to shipments from any other point in the district. So far from the Eastern Illinois filing its rate from Dolton in order to deceive the shipper, it is the Commissioner of Corporations who either betrays his gross ignorance of transportation customs in Chicago territory or relies on the public ignorance of these customs to deceive the public too apt to accept unquestioningly every statement made by a Government official as necessarily true, although, as in the present instance, a careful examination shows these statements to be false.

The final point made by President Moffett that other commodities of a character similar to oil were carried at much lower rates than 18 cents, the Commissioner of Corporations dismisses only with the remark that "the reasonableness of this rate is not in question." The question is whether this rate constituted a discrimination against other shippers of oil, and he also makes much of the failure of President Moffett to produce before the grand jury evidence of a local illegal act of which the Standard Oil Company said that other large shippers in the territory had been guilty. Considering the fact that these shippers included the packers and elevator men of Chicago the action of the grand jury in calling upon President Moffett to furnish evidence of their wrong-doing may be interpreted as a demand for an elaboration of the obvious; but the fact that a rate-book containing these freight rates for other shippers was offered in evidence during the trial and ruled out by Judge Landis was kept out of sight. President Moffett would not, of course, accept the invitation of the grand jury although he might have been pardoned if he had referred them to various official investigations by the Interstate Commerce Commission and other departments of the Government.

We come back, therefore, to the conclusion of the whole matter, which is that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana was fined an amount equal to seven or eight times the value of its entire property, because its traffic department did not verify the statement of the Alton rate clerk, that the six-cent commodity rate on oil had been properly filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission. There is no evidence, and none was introduced at the trial, that any shipper of oil from Chicago territory had been interfered with by the eighteen-cent rate nor that the failure of the Alton to file its six-cent rate had resulted in any discrimination against any independent shipper.—we must take this on the word of the Commissioner of Corporations and of Judge Landis. Neither is it denied even by Mr. Smith that the "independent" shipper of oil, whom he pictures as being driven out of business by this discrimination of the Alton, could have shipped all the oil he desired to ship from Whiting via Dolton over the lines of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois to East St. Louis. In short, President Moffett's defence is still good, and we predict will be so declared by the higher court.

The Standard Oil Company has been charged with all manner of crimes and misdemeanors. Beginning with the famous Rice of Marietta, passing down to that apostle of popular liberties, Henry Demarest Lloyd, with his Wealth Against the Commonwealth, descending by easy stages to Miss Tarbell's offensive personalities, we finally reach the nether depths of unfair and baseless misrepresentation in the report of the Commissioner of Corporations. The Standard has been charged with every form of commercial piracy and with most of the crimes of the corporation calendar. After long years of strenuous attack, under the leadership of the President of the United States, the corporation is at last dragged to the bar of justice to answer for its misdoings. The whole strength of the Government is directed against it, and at last, we are told, the Standard Oil Company is to pay the penalty of its crimes, and it is finally convicted of having failed to verify the statement of a rate clerk and is forthwith fined a prodigious sum, measured by the ear. Under the old criminal law, the theft of property worth more than a shilling was punishable by death. Under the interpretation of the Interstate Commerce law by Theodore Roosevelt and Judge Kenesaw Landis, a technical error of a traffic official is made the excuse for the confiscation of a vast amount of property.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE WILL MEET MONDAY NIGHT TO TAKE ACTION ON PRIMARIES

Organization and Leaders are Known to be Anti-Taft But are Non-Committal

May Make Concessions on Account of Col. Gillett's
Candidacy for State Treasurer and Send Taft Delegate.

The Republican situation in Licking county is still a matter of uncertainty. Chairman Charles W. Montgomery of the County Central Committee, has issued a call for the committee to meet Monday, January 20, 1908, which is the last day upon which action may be taken under the call of the State Committee to conform to that call and order a primary election. The Taft sentiment throughout the county is very strong, but the opposition to Secretary Taft is sufficiently strong to make the situation uncertain, especially when coupled with the fact that the county organization is anti-Taft, while Postmaster Heisey and Geo. Hamilton reorganized the leaders of the county have been non-committal on the question. They are understood to favor Senator Foraker and Chairman Montgomery has been outspoken in his opposition to the candidacy of Secretary Taft. Speculation is rife as to what will be done in this committee meeting, and the Taft leaders seem worried as to the probable outcome. It is believed, however, that the candidacy for state treasurer of Col. Melville M. Gillett, of this county, a well known Taft man, will cause the Foraker people to make concessions, and that Mr. Gillett will be permitted, without serious opposition, to take a Taft delegate to the state convention.

CURE FOR RED EYELIDS.

Hot Water and Antiseptic Cleansing Fluids Do the Work.

Only the simplest kind of treatment is necessary to reduce swollen or inflamed eyelids. Hot water, antiseptic cleansing fluids and simple astringents are the things required in this cure.

Many times inflammation comes from eye strain, and in such cases an oculist should be consulted. A low condition of the system, however, is frequently responsible for red and heavy lids, and while treating them externally it is well to take a tonic internally and do what one can to improve the general health.

When granulation is present make a paste to relieve the lids by rubbing a bit of alum into the raw white of an egg until the latter forms a curd. At night put this over the lids and place some on a linen bandage, which should be worn on the eyelids throughout the night. The paste should be made fresh each time.

While vaseline is most beneficial if applied to the edges of the lids every night, it is a balm rather than a medicine, for it has no stimulating or curing qualities.

Rinsing the eyes with a 5 per cent boric acid solution is helpful. This should be done night and morning. To give this bath put the liquid into an eye glass in which it is possible to immerse the lids by opening and shutting them. This process clears the eye of any impurities or foreign matter and is one of the most harmless and best known applications for the eyes.

After this bath healing remedies should be put on. Oculists differ greatly as to the efficacy of cold or hot fomentations when there is inflammation. One scatters the trouble; the other brings it to a head. The application of a warm, but not hot, compress is undoubtedly soothing, and should the lids be inflamed from the effect of strong light, such as sun or snow or high wind, it will be found well to bathe them gently, really mopping, with warm water. Afterward they should be wiped with a solution of witch hazel and water, half and half. If you can then stay in a darkened room for fifteen minutes the inflammation will probably disappear.

Should styes recur frequently the services of an oculist should be sought.

BROWN BUTTER SAUCE.

Several Recipes For Serving With the Fish Course.

Place the desired amount of butter in a saucepan and heat until it becomes a rich brown color. Take care, however, that it does not burn. Add a little vinegar or lemon juice and pour over the fish or joint with which it is to be served. Another brown sauce is made by putting in a saucepan two tablespoonfuls of butter and two tablespoonfuls of flour. Cook until the flour is brown, stirring all the time. Then pour in one cup and a half of boiling water, simmering and stirring until smooth and thickened.

A still richer brown sauce is made in this way. Put two tablespoonfuls of butter in a pan over the fire. Then add one sliced onion, one small carrot, one-half of a turnip chopped fine, a bay leaf and sprig of parsley. Cover and simmer fifteen minutes. Then place over the fire, where the vegetables will color without burning. Add two tablespoonfuls of flour, stirring until the flour is well browned.

Add gradually two cups of stock, half a dozen peppercorns, three cloves and a blade of mace, with salt to season. Cover and simmer twenty minutes and serve. This sauce may serve as the foundation for the bordelaise sauce or may be varied by adding wine, lemon juice or mushrooms, thus making many different sauces with the same foundation.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

If a few drops of glycerin be added to the starch for linens it will be found that the iron will not stick and that the linens will have a beautiful gloss after they are ironed.

Use a clean brick to stand the iron on when ironing instead of the usual ironing stand. It has no holes underneath to admit the air, and the iron will retain their heat much longer.

New boots often do not take a good polish. They will do so if they are rubbed over with a cut lemon before they are blacked. A cut raw potato may be used instead of the lemon if the latter is not to be had.

To make paper stick to metal use a strong solution of washing soda. While hot dip the metal in and when clean take it out and rub with a soft cloth. Apply onion juice to the metal, press the paper smoothly over it, and it will adhere like glue, and it will be almost impossible to separate the two.

To Clean Oil Paintings.
To clean an oil painting that is covered with dirt and specks, wash all the dust from the painting with a wet cloth.

Put a little linseed oil in a saucer and, dipping the finger in the oil, rub the painting gently.
It will require time and patience, but the effect will repay you.
Artists say that in cleaning a painting nothing but the fingers, dipped in oil or water, should be used.

EXCITING

Was the Contest of the Philo and Euterpean Societies at Granville Friday Night.

Granville, Jan. 18.—One of the most important and interesting events in literary society circles of the University, was the annual contest of the Philo and Euterpean literary societies, which was held at Recital Hall, Friday night. The hall was filled to its utmost capacity with the friends of the contestants and considerable enthusiasm was manifested. Mrs. J. R. Hopely of Bucyrus, presided, and the following program was carried out:

Piano duet, "The Flatterers"—Helen Cosley and Leila Porter.
Debate, Resolved, "That the Russian peasants should now be given equal rights with all other Russian subjects in a representative government." Affirmative: for Euterpe, Marguerite Jones and Olive Rusler; negative, for Philo, Grace North and Lottie Grandstaff.

Declamation, "Nero Conquered"—Gladys Clay, Philo; "Commencement"—Lila Johnson, Euterpe.
Essay, "Social Sentiment of Today"—Marion Lamb, Euterpe; "Shrines"—Irene Chambers, Philo.

Original story, "Huldah Higgins' Christmas Present"—Faye Griffith, Philo; "Also the Guard Alvarez"—Benlah Rector, Euterpe.
The decision of the judges was as follows:

Debate—Negative, Philo.
Declamation, "Commencement," by Lila Johnson, Euterpe.
Essay—Irene Chambers, Philo.
Original Story—Benlah Rector, Euterpe.

Final score: Philo 7, Euterpe 3.
The spirit shown by the two societies was very commendable, the songs of the societies being sung with great enthusiasm. This is the second annual contest.

Miss Marion Weiant of Newark visited her Chi Psi sisters in Granville, Friday.

Miss Agnes Walsh entertained Mrs. J. Adair of Xenia and Mrs. F. L. Ferguson at supper Friday evening.

Miss Mamie Geach was entertained at supper Friday evening by Miss Lila Fleming.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Lee of Newark visited friends in Granville, Friday.

After a short though pleasant visit with friends here, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. H. have returned to their home in Mansfield.

Thomas Marsden of Cincinnati was here transacting business Friday.

Y. M. C. A. SUNDAY MEETING.

Tomorrow afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. there will be organized a Sunday club, the purpose of which is to make Sunday afternoon one of larger profit to the men of the city. For three-quarters of an hour each Sunday following the men's meeting the club will discuss the principles of Jesus applied to modern day problems. This club will attempt to find out what Jesus would approve, not what would Jesus approve? This will be an open and frank discussion of the problems of life. All men of the city are invited to attend. Following the discussion a lunch will be served.

ATTRACTIVE COSTUMES for LITTLE GIRLS

ILLUSTRATION No. 6104 shows a most becoming dress in over-blouse style in plaid suiting. It is simple and girlish, and at the same time decidedly smart. The waist is in over-blouse style and is mounted on a fitted lining in which the sleeves are inserted, the armholes of the over-blouse being deep. Two deep tucks extend over the shoulders, and the front opens over a dainty white chemisette. Wool batiste, delaine, cashmere, alba-trous and pique are all suitable for reproduction. For a girl of 12 years, 4 yards of 44-inch material will be needed.

Girl's Dress, No. 6104. Sizes for 10, 12 and 14 years.

The little girl can have nothing more stylish or becoming than a little one-piece dress, such as is here shown (6101). It may be worn with a gullemp or without, just as preferred. The front closes in double-breasted style, and a deep hem finishes the lower edge. Pretty cap sleeves and a leather belt complete this simple little frock. Linen, pique, gingham and the stylish plaids are all suggested for the making. For a girl of 8 years, 2 yards of 36-inch material will be required.

Girl's Over-Dress, No. 6101. Sizes for 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12.

The graceful lines of the little dress, No. 718, render it very becoming to the youthful figure. It is made to wear over a gullemp, and slips on easily over the head. A circular collar is a pretty feature of the mode. Slashes may be made in the ends, through which a broad silk tie is passed and tied in front, or the front and opening, in sleeve cap may be laced as illustrated. The heavy washable materials as well as the soft woolsens are adaptable to the mode, the stylish new plaids being especially smart. For a girl of six years, 2½ yards of 36-inch material will be required.

Girl's Box-Plated Dress, No. 716. Sizes for 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years.

This dainty little dress in Empire style (699) is charmingly quaint, and is one of the prettiest yet shown for little girls. Box-pleats are laid in the upper part of the front and back, the fullness in the back being held in place by broad ties of the material. The sleeves are in the fashionable three-quarter length, finished by narrow bands. Nainsook is represented in the illustration, but China silk, lawn, dimity and gingham are all suitable to the mode. For a child of five years, 2½ yards of material 36 inches wide will be required.

Child's Dress in Empire Effect, No. 699. Sizes for 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 years.

Patterns will be sent to any address on receipt of ten cents each, by Marjorie Dane, 43 West Thirty-fourth street, New York City.

To avoid delay, do not fail to state size of pattern desired, and be sure to write name and address plainly.

ETIQUETTE OF THE AFTERNOON CALL

THIS is the season of the year when afternoon entertainments for women are at their height. They are of two distinct classes, formal and informal. All of us are human enough to prefer the latter, yet few of us decline invitations to the former. The woman who sits at home and mopes, complaining to her husband at night that she is bored and lonely, has only herself to blame. Let her ask a half dozen friends in for the afternoon to play cards or to make clothes for some hospital—anything to occupy their hands while their tongues are busy. Then let her serve a cup of rich chocolate, or even tea, with dainty sandwiches. She will find that her friends had such a good time that they, in turn, will have a little "afternoon," and thus a jolly if informal circle will result.

When you give an informal affair your invitations should be simple little notes written in the first person, or given over the telephone, or delivered personally if you happen to meet a friend in the street. An hour should always be set for the affair, no matter how informal. The winter afternoons are short, so ask your guests to come at half-past two. They, of course, will be expected to remove their hats and coats at these little affairs. If the guest, do not sit all afternoon with your hat on, saying to your hostess that you did not have time to comb your hair. Wear a neat little shirt waist or simple dress, have your hands well manicured and your hair neatly combed.

If you are the hostess at such an informal gathering, be quite sure you do not invite two women who are not friendly. At a large gathering this would not matter so much, but in a room where there are only five or ten people, the situation would be most embarrassing to all the guests as well as yourself, thus putting a damper on an otherwise pleasant afternoon. Without doubt, one of the greatest secrets of a successful hostess is her ability to get the right people together.

A question that has always been more or less under discussion is whether or not you owe your hostess a call after an informal affair—an afternoon at cards, a tea, etc. I think no definite answer has yet been given, but it is well to be on the safe side and drop in on your friend informally some morning or early afternoon. Do not make a fashionable call, dressed in your most gorgeous raiment, but pay her a call in the same informal spirit as the occasion was given.

With formal receptions and large afternoon teas, the rules are quite different. Although men are invited to these festivities, they do not go in anything like the numbers that the women do. Most men have to be about their business while their wives are gossiping over their tea and wafers. A married woman should leave her husband's card when she attends such a function. A tray for this purpose is generally found in the hall or some convenient place.

You do not remove either your hat or your gloves at a formal afternoon tea. If your wraps are heavy, you can take them off in a room provided for that purpose. Do not enter the parlor with a veil over your face. If you have handsome furs, the neck-piece you can keep on, but a muff is always a burden in a room, where you are called upon to shake hands and to hold a plate while you eat. It should be left in the dressing room with your veil and wraps. The muff is responsible for more accidents in the tea room than any other article of apparel. Often a woman trying to manipulate a fork and hold a plate and a muff at the same time is so overburdened that something is bound to be spilled.

At formal teas and receptions you should stay only a short time. Sometimes a hundred or more invitations have been sent out, the hostess knowing that only a few women will be present at a time. If you meet several friends and want to chat with them a few moments, you should not let that chat run into a visit. Even when you know the hostess very well, half an hour is long enough to stay at any formal function of this sort.

Here, again, the question arises, "Do I owe that woman a call?" And again my answer is as before. Drop in some afternoon and pay her a short call, leaving your own and your husband's card.

Card parties are sometimes given with great formality. This is often done as a means of returning many social obligations at one time. Invitations to such an affair should be sent out two weeks in advance; they should be either written in a formal manner or engraved cards, if you can afford them. The hour should be set. At a card party of this character ladies do not remove their hats, but, of course, must take off their wraps and gloves. Refreshments are served at the finish of the game, at the individual tables where the guests are seated.

The giving of booby prizes has been discontinued, and a third prize generally given instead. Personal articles are now given to women as prizes at afternoon gatherings—silk stockings, feather boas, gloves, etc. Such prizes are acceptable to either the single girl or married woman, while bric-a-brac, table linen, etc., are often of the "not wanted" class of prizes.

There is no question as to whether you owe this hostess a call or not. The answer is most emphatically "yes," and it should be paid within two weeks after the card party. As your husband was not invited to the affair, you need not leave his card. But the call must be made promptly and not put off from day to day, until, when you do call, your whole time is spent in explaining why you have not called before.

EGG RECIPES

MEAT prices have soared so high that few people are serving it more than once a day, and that is generally for dinner. Many families, however, like rather a hearty breakfast, and the plain boiled or fried egg soon falls on the early morning appetite. Here are some suggestions for cooking eggs tastefully:

Scrambled Eggs with Celery: Take four or five pieces of crisp white celery, cut into small dice, wash and drain. Place in a saucepan with a pint of cold water, salt well and let boil for twenty minutes. Remove from the fire and drain through colander. Break six or eight eggs in a bowl, season with salt and pepper and add a scant half cup of milk. Beat this well together. Heat a tablespoon of butter in a saucepan, drop in the eggs and celery, thoroughly mix with a wooden spoon and cook for five or six minutes. Serve on a hot platter, garnished with celery tips.

Omelette with Sausages: Take six or eight fresh eggs and separate yolks and whites. Add to the yolks a scant half cup of milk, salt and pepper, beat well together and then beat the whites to a stiff froth. Cut four-skinned sausages into quarter-inch pieces, place in a frying pan with a tablespoon of butter and fry for five minutes, tossing them occasionally. Add half a teaspoon of finely chopped parsley. Mix whites and yolks together, pour over the sausages, and mix for a moment. When brown, fold over half way. Turn on a hot dish and serve.

Fried Eggs with Apples: Peel and core two large solid apples, then cut in slices about a quarter of an inch thick, and season with salt and pepper. Thoroughly heat two tablespoons of butter in a frying pan, add the apples and fry for two minutes on each side. Crack six or eight eggs over the apples, season, and fry for a minute on top of the range, then place in the oven for five or six minutes, remove, slide on a hot dish and serve.

Eggs with Rice: Plunge a quarter of a cup of rice into a pint of boiling water and cook for thirty minutes, thoroughly drain, then place in a baking dish and add a scant cup of cream or rich milk, a tablespoon of butter, a saltspoon of salt, cayenne pepper and grated nutmeg. A dash of curry powder is liked by some, but can be added or omitted at will. Mix this well together, let come to a boil, then crack over it eight or ten eggs, set in oven for ten minutes, remove and serve.

Shirred Eggs with Ham: Shred or grate half cup of hot, cooked ham, place in a bowl and add a teaspoon of French mustard, a teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce, cayenne pepper and a little nutmeg. Mix well with a spoon, then evenly spread into six shirred-egg dishes. Crack two eggs into each dish, season and set in a hot oven for three to five minutes.

how is worn at the back or at one side, but not around the waist.

So, I say once more to you, be careful and wear the right belt with the right dress, and with every skirt that you have made, have also a little belt of the same material. Else match it exactly in a plain ribbon of heavy texture, which is the next best thing. For your evening gowns, have your girdles of soft silk or Dresden ribbon, always harmonizing with the dress itself.

SOFTENING ANGLES AND SECURING CURVES

IT seems almost inconsistent in this season, when the hipless woman is in high favor, to write an article for women who long for curves. There are many women, notably dressmakers, who will protest that no woman desires to possess curves since the Louis coat and the Paquin sheath-like skirt are in vogue. But the fact remains that hundreds of women all over the country do write to me bewailing their angles and the seeming impossibility of covering them with firm, curving flesh.

The most common causes of thinness—unattractive thinness, not slenderness—are indigestion or malassimilation of food, and extreme nervousness or the habit of worrying. The woman who eats, but does not secure any strength from her food, will never take on any flesh. This means that a diet should be ordered by the family physician and some special tonic or appetizer given. A successful French beauty doctor advises this appetizer for the nervous, thin, fussy woman:

Tincture of star-anise.....3 grammes
Tincture of rhubarb.....3 grammes
Tincture of nut-vomica.....3 grammes

Take six to ten drops in a spoonful of water just before meals.

If it is a case of nervousness and worry, the faculty of taking everything in the hardest way and fretting about the unavoidable thing, then no tonic, no appetizer, no cream or emollient or skin food can work a cure. The cure lies within the mind of the woman. She must stop fussing and worrying.

For a general skin food, to be used to feed either flabby skin or actual hollows, there is nothing better than this:

Tannin.....¼ grain
Lanoline.....20 grammes
Oil of sweet almonds.....20 grammes

To get best results from this massage cream, take a warm bath and, when the pores are open, rub the cream in wherever hollows are found. If only the breasts have turned flabby or atrophied, the flesh can be fed externally with the above lotion and then the patient may take internally the following potion:

Liquid extract of galega (goatsrue) 10 grams; lacto-phosphate of lime, 10 grams; tincture of fennel, 10 grams; simple syrup, 400 grams.

This can be prepared by any druggist. It is to be taken internally, two spoonfuls with water before each meal. Keep the bowels open and drink extract of malt or ale with your meals instead of water.

A very simple flesh food, especially good for the woman whose skin is dry and harsh, a condition which often exists in connection with extreme thinness, is this:

Fresh lard.....100 grams
Alcohol (90 per cent).....20 grams
Essence of rosemary.....11 drops
Essence of bergamot.....11 drops

These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store. Be sure that the lard is pure. Melt in a double boiler and add a tiny bit of gum camphor. Strain, and beat into this the alcohol, and just before the cream hardens or congeals, add the essences.

Massage the skin with this every day, doing the work slowly, firmly and conscientiously. Spasmodic treatment of either too much flesh or a shortage in flesh will secure no results whatever.

Best of all for the thin woman are the deep breathing exercises so often mentioned in these columns. I will be glad to send these exercises, together with any advice for individual cases of thinness, on receipt of a stamped and addressed envelope.

COMMON POISONS AND THEIR ANTIDOTES

CORROSIVE SUBLIMATE—The proper name of this substance is mercuric chloride, or bichloride of mercury, and it is extensively used as a germicide and antiseptic. Ordinarily it is sold in green tablets about half the size of a penny and three times as thick. After swallowing it, the patient notices a metallic taste in his mouth and then a severe pain in the stomach. Saliva flows freely. Vomiting and diarrhoea appear. Give the patient milk immediately, and the whites of three or four eggs, and then try to induce vomiting. The after effects of poisoning by mercuric chloride are severe. Therefore it is important to send for medical aid, even when the quantity swallowed has been small and apparent recovery has followed quickly.

OPIMUM—This is usually taken in the form of paregoric, laudanum, morphine or in some "cure" or "pain mixture." First comes a feeling of drowsiness, then sleep, then collapse and death. If permanganate of potassium is at hand, a very weak solution—one grain to the half pint of water—should be given to the patient to drink. Strong coffee should be given frequently. The caffeine neutralizes the morphine. The permanganate will neutralize any morphine still unabsorbed in the stomach, but since absorption usually takes place very rapidly, this remedy is not very effective. The important thing is to keep the patient awake until medical aid arrives. This is done by walking him up and down the room, by heating his calves or the soles of his feet by rubbing his ears. Hold ammonia to his nose. His protests and the pain thereof must be disregarded. Immediate vomiting, of course, is desirable.

CHLORAL—Chloral hydrate is the principal ingredient of "knock-out drops." Like opium, it produces drowsiness and a deep sleep, followed by a sudden stoppage of the heart and then death. Opium causes the pupils of the patient's eyes to contract, but chloral does not. This is the best way to differentiate between the two, when there is doubt as to the cause of the patient's condition. Practically nothing can be done by the layman to relieve the patient. It is best to hurry him to a hospital, without wasting any time in useless efforts.

PHENACETIN—This is a coal-tar product, and like antipyrin and acetanilid, is a frequent constituent of headache powders and neuralgia "cures." In large or repeated doses it has a tendency to cause heart failure and collapse. The best ready antidote for an overdose is whiskey. If a dose of "headache powder" is followed by weakness and pallor or by difficulty in breathing, it is well to take a wineglass of whiskey and send for a doctor at once.

PHOSPHORUS—This is a constituent of several popular rat poisons and is also used in the manufacture of matches. Children often ingest it by sucking match heads. It causes soreness in the mouth and vomiting. The things expelled from the stomach have a faint, garlicy odor and are slightly luminous—phosphorescent—in the dark. The more dangerous later effects of phosphorus poisoning appear but slowly, and there is usually plenty of time to summon a physician. Until he appears, it is well to encourage the vomiting—or start it, if it has not begun—by the use of the common emetics—warm mustard, salt water, ipecac, etc.

ARSENIC—This is frequently taken by mistake or as an overdose. It causes disagreeable sensations in the throat, a difficulty in swallowing, dizziness, headache and sometimes vomiting. The best remedy is a tablespoonful of "diluted iron," which may be obtained at any drug store. The dose should be repeated every half hour until there is relief. Then a dose of some handy purgative should be administered. Arsenic is the active poison in green wall paper and Paris green.

STRYCHNINE—Recent advertisements in the layman can do little to combat this exceedingly dangerous poison. It is best to take the patient to a hospital, where all the needed drugs and apparatus are at hand.

COCOAINE—This poison is frequently taken as a matter of habit, like morphine. It causes a fleeting feeling of gaiety and exaltation, followed by depression, drowsiness and a sense of swooning. In the case of a fatal dose, death follows convulsions and collapse. The patient must be put to bed. Administer a wineglass of whiskey and summon medical aid at once.

POTASH—Caustic potash, washing soda, spirits of ammonia and other strong alkalis in common use in the household are frequently swallowed by mistake or with suicidal intent. Very efficient antidotes are lemon juice and diluted vinegar. When an alkali has been taken in a concentrated form the throat is usually burned very badly. The treatment of this, of course, requires professional skill.

OXALIC ACID—This is often swallowed by mistake for Epsom salts. It produces pains in the throat and mouth, vomiting and spasms. Lime water, baking soda, magnesia, chalk and milk are all good antidotes. Vomiting should be induced. Compared with other poisons, oxalic acid is not very dangerous, because a comparatively large dose is required to do much damage.

EMETICS—The best of all emetics for household use is ipecac. A little of this, in solution, should be placed in the family medicine chest. In addition, the chest should contain a box of carbonate of soda (baking soda); one of "diluted iron," and one of Epsom salts, a bottle of lemon juice, a bottle of whiskey or brandy, one of peroxide of hydrogen and one of a weak solution of permanganate of potassium.

THE RIGHT AND WRONG BELT FOR DIFFERENT OCCASIONS

HUNDREDS of women mar a charming costume by the addition of an inappropriate belt or girdle. A belt that does not harmonize with a gown or dress that clashes in color, no matter how exquisite the material, will spoil the handsomest costume that any woman ever wore. This "hurry-up" are in which we live is largely responsible for such discordant combinations, against which every woman should fight.

With a tailor-made suit consisting of skirt and jacket, there is only one proper belt if you wish your jacket to set well and your entire costume to look right. That belt, made of a piece of the goods, is not over an inch in width and is stitched all around until the entire belt is covered with stitching. This belt should be tucked on the back of the skirt and be fastened in front with a tiny hook and eye. It is always ready, and without exception to the one and only appropriate belt to wear with a stiff tailored dress.

Take for instance, a brown broadcloth suit, such as is now so much worn. With this is worn either a brown silk blouse or one of net. Now picture to yourself two women—one with a light blue crushed girdle, shirred in front and banded in the back. Of course, this cannot be fastened to the skirt, so it is pinned down in the back with a large gilt pin and is always riding up in front. Look at the other woman, with her neatly stitched belt of brown cloth sewed on the skirt and fastened trimly in front. No pins are necessary, and the belt seems to be part of the skirt. Which woman are you?

Leather belts and elastic belts of various colors are still seen in the shops; hence, women must be still wearing them, but, believe me, nothing looks worse than a soiled white leather belt on a colored dress. A black leather belt on a colored dress is not quite so bad, but should never be worn with anything except a black skirt. A brown leather belt, worn with a white shirt waist and black walking skirt, is a combination often seen. There is no excuse for such a disfiguring combination. Brown belts with brown skirts; black belts with black skirts; light blue girdles with light blue dresses—this is the rule which leads to artistic effect in frocks.

The beautiful Dresden ribbons which are flooding the counters are bewildering in their exquisite coloring, and the most fashionable dressmakers are using them for girdles and bows. But you must select a Dresden ribbon that harmonizes in coloring with your gown. A ribbon with a black satin edge with blue flowers in the center cannot be worn on a pink evening gown; or the tones of the ribbon pink. Brown is the color par excellence for this season and the Dresden ribbons come in gorgeous shades of brown, tan and biscuit coloring to combine with the gowns. Years ago we used to think that all brown dresses should be relieved with a touch of color, generally pink or blue. Not so to-day. All trimmings, girdles and belts must be of blending tones, with perhaps a touch of gilt braid to relieve them.

Many women, and almost all young girls, wear lingerie dresses in the house all winter. Do not wear one of these dainty gowns with a soiled belt of faded ribbon. The most favored way of joining belt, waist and skirt is to use a piece of insertion at the waist line, sewing waist and skirt on to it. Such ribbons around the waist line of lingerie dresses are seldom seen on the well-dressed woman. Occasionally a
